This privacy policy describes how The Mesh Networks uses and protects personal information provided by individuals who use this web site.

YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

When you visit this site, The Mesh Networks collects your current Internet address, the type of browser software used and the referring site and/or search engine. We may also track the sections of the web site accessed by you. This information is stored on an aggregate basis without knowing your name or any other personal information about you. This information may be used to evaluate this web site and to provide better services to individuals using this site.

When you visit this site, you are not required to provide us with any personal information unless you choose to do so. The registration for many of our webcasts requires basic contact information to facilitate lead generation and to enable follow up responses to questions brought up during a webcast.

The personally identifiable information you provide to us on this site may be protected by other laws and regulations governing privacy not described in this privacy statement. The Mesh Networks will only transmit your registration information to the third parties identified by the client who presents each webcast. Your information will not be sold or distributed to any outside source.

USE OF COOKIES

Cookies are small pieces of data that web sites send to your computer, which are stored in files on your hard drive. We use cookies to collect general information, on an anonymous basis, about how this site is used. This general information may be used for marketing and/or research purposes and may be shared by us with our affiliates and unaffiliated parties. If you participate in online surveys presented on this site, cookies may be used to ensure that you provide only one response to a given survey. Cookies may also be used to prevent you from receiving multiple requests to respond to the same survey. Additionally, webcasts requiring registration will use cookies to identify your machine and allow you to visit other webcasts without having to register again.

THIRD PARTY WEBSITES

This site may provide links to other Internet sites controlled by third parties not affiliated with The Mesh Networks. These web sites may have privacy statements that differ from this privacy statement. You should review the privacy statement of any third party web site you access from this site.

MINORS

This web site does not seek to collect personal information from individuals under the age of 18. Individuals under the age of 18 should receive permission from their parent or legal guardian before providing any personal information to The Mesh Networks on this site.

REPORTING VIOLATIONS

Despite the best of efforts of The Mesh Networks administrative team to identify and resolve privacy or copyright related violations, you are encouraged to report such violations via e-mail at abuse@themeshnet.com. Each submission will be reviewed by our staff and then processed. If a resolution requires further communication, you will be contacted for verification and support; otherwise you may not receive a reply.
